

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PREFACE	XII
Svante Lindqvist
FOREWORD	XIV
Francesco Profumo
INTRODUCTION	XVI
Karl Grandin, Piero Mazzinghi, Nils Olander, Giuseppe Pelosi
SECTION I – DOCUMENTS	1
Guglielmo Marconi, “Nobel Prize Lecture – December 11, 1909. The original manuscript”	6
Karl Grandin, “The Nobel Prize in 1909: the awarding process”	78
Monica Pavese Rubins, “Guglielmo Marconi and wireless telegraphy in the Swedish daily press”	92
Massimiano Bucchi, “The Nobel Prize to Marconi in the Italian daily press”	120
SECTION II – MARCONI: THE ROAD TO THE NOBEL PRIZE	131
Gianfranco Albis, Sigfrido Leschiutta, Massimo Ortolano, “Vincenzo Rosa and the education of Guglielmo Marconi”	138
Gabriele Falciasacca, “Marconi’s activity in 1895: what we know and what is hypothesized”	156
Mary K. MacLeod, “Whisper in the air. Marconi: the Canada years – From Newfoundland, to Nova Scotia, to Quebec”	174
Stefano Selleri, “Pietro Blaserna, Stanislao Cannizzaro, Antonio Roiti and Giovanni Schiaparelli: Marconi’s nominators who didn’t make it”	208

SECTION III – MARCONI’S CONTEMPORARIES AND LATER SCIENTISTS	225
Peter Russer, “Ferdinand Braun – A pioneer in wireless technology and electronics”	228
Henry Rishbeth , “Reflections in Appleton’s mirror: a century of ionospheric science”	248
Piero Mazzinghi, Giuseppe Pelosi, “Enrico Fermi talks about Guglielmo Marconi”	266
Nils Gunnar Petersson, “Erik Gustaf Hallén”	278
SECTION IV – EQUIPMENT, DEVICES AND COLLECTIONS IN SWEDEN AND ITALY	283
Carl-Henrik Walde, “SAQ in Grimeton, the only remaining pre-electronic transmitter for transatlantic work and the only radio station on the UNESCO World Heritage List”	286
Anders Lindeberg-Lindvet, “Collections on telecommunication engineering in Sweden”	302
Leonardo Lucci, Antonio Savini, Massimo Temporelli, Barbara Valotti, “Collections on telecommunication engineering in Italy”	320
CONCLUSION	349
NOTES ON EDITORS	355
NOTES ON CONTRIBUORS	359
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	363
INDEX	365