

Contents

Introduction	VII
---------------------	------------

Part I – Basics

Chapter 1 – Theoretical bases	1
1.1. Why assess the representation of interpersonal relationships	1
1.2. Changes in children’s representation of relationships	2
1.3. Drawing as an alternative to verbal methods	3
1.4. Drawing in cross-cultural perspective	3
1.5. How to use drawings to access children’s representations of social relationships	4
1.6. Fields of application of PAIR	5
Chapter 2 – Psychometric bases	9
2.1. Pilot study	9
2.2. Construct validity	10
2.3. Operational definitions	11
2.4. Reliability	13
2.5. Discriminant validity	15
2.6. An extension of the validation	16
2.7. Concurrent validity	19
2.8. PAIR as it is now	20

Part II – Procedures

Chapter 3 – Instructions for collecting drawings	25
3.1. Introduction	25
3.2. How to delimit the task	26
3.3. How to obtain variety	27
3.4. How to answer children’s questions	27
3.5. How to conclude the session	28

Chapter 4 – Preliminary instructions for coding	33
4.1. How to organize the work	33
4.2. How to discard irrelevant aspects	34
4.3. Materials	36
Chapter 5 – Scales of Cohesion and Distancing	37
5.1. Preliminary classification of the drawings	38
5.2. Type A drawings	41
5.3. Type B drawings	55
Chapter 6 – Scale of Similarity	59
Chapter 7 – Scale of Value	71
Chapter 8 – Scale of Emotions	81
Chapter 9 – Scale of Conflict	85
Part III – Exercises
Chapter 10 – Frequently asked questions	91
Chapter 11 – Scoring exercises	95
Coded drawings	97
References	129