

Table of contents

Introduction Breno Battistin Sebastiani, Delfim Ferreira Leão	7
Damasias and Thales: stasis and sophia at the term of Solon's apodemia Delfim Ferreira Leão	11
The (not so violent) staseis and metabolai in the Aristotelian Athenaion Politeia Denis Correa	25
Nature and natural phenomena in Thucydides' The Peloponnesian War : physis and kinesis as factors of political disturbance Martinho Soares	43
Democracy under the kothornos : Thucydides and Xenophon on Theramenes Lucia Sano, Breno Battistin Sebastiani	73
Uniting past and present: Sicily as a locus of identity between Greece and Rome Maria do Céu Fialho	93
Forms of government and rhetoric: perceptions of democracy and oligarchy in Demosthenes Priscilla Gontijo Leite	109
Concluding remarks Breno Battistin Sebastiani, Delfim Ferreira Leão	131
Index auctorum antiquorum	133