Table of contents

Introduction 9
Sophie Gebeil, Jean-Christophe Peyssard, Charles Riondet, Xavier Daumalin, Maryline Crivello, Fabien Borget

SECTION 1. WEB ARCHIVING IN THE MEDITERRANEAN: CHALLENGES FOR DIGITAL HERITAGE FACING THE CRISIS

"Just like home." The Words of online hospitality 25
Dana Diminescu, Quentin Lobbé

Web archiving in Tunisia post-2011: The National Library of Tunisia's experience 37
Raja Ben Slama

SECTION 2. RETHINKING COLLECTION CREATION FOR CULTURAL AND SOCIETAL CHANGE

Bridging the gap: Capturing UK trans health discourse in the Archive of Tomorrow 45
Alice Austin

Making social media archives: Limitations and archiving practices in the development of representative social media collections 57
Beatrice Cannelli

SECTION 3. THE WEB AS HERITAGE IN THE MAKING: DEBATES AND CHALLENGES

Challenges in archiving the personalized web 79
Erwan Le Merrer, Camilla Penzo, Gilles Tredan, Lucas Verney

FUP Best Practice in Scholarly Publishing (DOI 10.36253/fup_best_practice)
Sophie Gebeil, Jean-Christophe Peyssard (edited by), Exploring the Archived Web during a Highly Transformative Age. Proceedings of the 5th international RESAW conference, Marseille, June 2024, © 2024 Author(s), CC BY 4.0, published by Firenze University Press, ISBN 979-12-215-0413-2, DOI 10.36253/979-12-215-0413-2

Mapping the archival horizon: A Comprehensive survey of COVID-19 web collections in European GLAM institutions 95
Nicola Bingham

A Network to develop the use of web archives: Three outcomes of the ResPaDon project 113
Sara Aubry, Audrey Baneyx, Emmanuelle Bermès, Laurence Favier, Alexandre Faye, Marie-Madeleine Géroudet, Benjamin Ooghe-Tabanou

SECTION 4. WEB ARCHIVE AS A MATERIAL FOR UNCOVERING WEB HISTORY

Time, bits, and nickel: Managing digital and analog continuity 129
Julie Momméja

A Decade of transformation discourse: Sociotechnical imaginaries of the Dutch web between 1994–2004 141
Nathalie Fridzema, Susan Aasman, Tom Slootweg, Rik Smit

Flirting and the web: The case study of Luxusbuerg 163
Carmen Noguera

The Online presence of the Danish public sector from 2010 to 2022: Generating an archived web corpus 185
Tanja Svarre, Mette Skov

SECTION 5. MULTI-LEVEL METHODS FOR STUDYING WEB ARCHIVES

Web archives and hyperlink analyses: The case of videnskab.dk 2009–2022 201
Niels Brügger, Katharina Sølling Dahlman

Do user comments belong to journalistic articles? A brief visual history of user interaction on selected German and American news websites 1996–2024 223
Johannes Paßmann, Martina Schories, Paul Heinicker

Multi-level structure of the First Tuesday communities after the 2000 dot-com crash: A social network analysis of economic actors based on web archives 247
Quentin Lobbé

Semantic analysis of web archive historical data: 1983 “Marche pour l’égalité et contre le racisme” 259
Davide Rendina, Sophie Gebeil, Mathieu Génois, Patrice Bellot

SECTION 6. BODY AND HEALTH STUDIES IN A DIGITAL CONTEXT

Food, cooking, and health in a selected corpus of websites and connected YouTube channels in France. Collecting and archiving the audiovisual web 277

Christian Bonah, Solène Lellinger, Caroline Sala

We're all experts now? Archiving public health discourse in the UK Web Archive 295
Alice Austin, Leontien Talboom

SECTION 7. STUDYING MEDIATIZED MEMORIES

Websites as historical sources? The benefits and limitations of using the websites of former repatriates for the history of schooling in colonial Algeria 311
Christine Mussard

A Social media archive for digital memory research 321
Costis Dallas, Ingrida Kelpšienė

CONCLUSION

A Highly transformative age for web archives 343
Nicola Bingham, Valérie Schafer, Jane Winters, Anat Ben-David