

Contents

Local Societies and Relational Agency in Medieval Iberia. Two Avenues for the Study of Subaltern Groups , by Juan Antonio Quirós Castillo	1
1. Introduction	1
2. The context: peasant studies	3
3. The content of the book	6
3.1. Theoretical aspects for studying the peasantry	6
3.2. Powers and peasants. How is it possible to study peasantry agency?	7
3.3. Inhabited landscapes and peasantry agency capacity	9
4. Coda	12
Works cited	15
Peasant agency, collective action, and institutions in early medieval societies: an approach from NW Iberia , by Álvaro Carvajal Castro	19
1. Introduction: from Punjab to Delhi	19
2. Peasant agency? A collective conundrum	22
3. Property, commons, and gender in early medieval localities	29
4. Conclusion	34
Works cited	35
Reflecting Peasant Agency in Medieval Rural Milieu Research of East Central Europe , by Ladislav Čapek, Lukáš Holata	41
1. Introduction	41
2. Understanding peasants: A research framework in East Central Europe	43

FUP Best Practice in Scholarly Publishing (DOI 10.36253/fup_best_practice)

Juan Antonio Quirós Castillo (edited by), Local Societies and Peasantry Agencies in Medieval Iberia, © Author(s), CC BY 4.0, published by Firenze University Press, ISBN 979-12-215-0562-7, DOI 10.36253/979-12-215-0562-7

3. Assessing selected themes from an agency perspective	49
4. Spatial reorganisation of settlement, changes in the layout of the ploughland, and the formation of the village	49
5. Formation of the three-compartment residential house and the peasant household	55
6. Production, livelihood, and nutrition of peasants	60
7. Integration of the rural economy into the market (trade relations)	62
8. Material culture and living standards of peasants	63
9. Impacts of human agency on the natural environment (human ecosystem)	64
10. Late medieval settlement desertion	66
11. Conclusion and discussion: A rethinking of rural communities' characterization from the peasant agency perspective	68
Works cited	71

Village formation and peasantry agency. The case study of Gorniz (Bizkaia) , by Teresa Campos-Lopez	77
1. Introduction	77
2. A case study: the early medieval village of Gorniz	81
2.1. The preventive project	81
2.2. The sequence of Gorniz	83
3. Main topics for analysis and discussion: Gorniz's contribution	87
3.1. The village formation process	87
3.2. The appearance of the necropolis	92
4. Contributions to a (open) debate	94
Works Cited	97

Considering peasant agency in the Early Middle Ages. A diachronic analysis of the archaeological record in Central Portugal , by Catarina Tente, Sara Prata	101
1. Introduction	102
2. A diachronic analysis of the peasant record	104
3. Discussion	108
3.1. Settlements and households	109
3.2. Gravesites	111
3.3. Material culture and consumption patterns	114
3.4. Farming activities	116
4. Conclusion	117
Works Cited	119

Unveiling a hidden subject: peasant agency in the Douro river basin (5th-7th centuries) , by Eduardo Cardoso Daflon	123
1. Hidden Subject	124
2. Iberian Early Middle Ages: two versions of the same reality	124
3. The emergence of a new reality in the 5 th century	127
4. Panorama of peasant villages and farms in the 6 th and 7 th centuries	131

5. Transformations in villages and farms in the 6 th and 7 th centuries	135
6. Fronts under aristocratic pressure	138
7. Conclusion: peasant agency in the North Plateau	146
Works cited	147

La práctica del caleado como marcador material de agencia campesina durante la revolución agraria de la Edad Moderna en el Cantábrico oriental , por Josu Narbarte, Mattin Aiestaran	151
1. Introducción	152
2. Un nuevo modelo agrario	153
3. La práctica del caleado como marcador de intensificación: fuentes	157
3.1. Fuentes documentales y etnográficas	157
3.2. Marcadores del paisaje: los caleros	164
3.3. Los suelos como archivo	167
3.3.1. Sondeos arqueológicos	167
3.3.2. Sondeos geoarqueológicos en columna	171
4. Conclusión	174
Agradecimientos	175
Obras citadas	177

The “arenas of struggle” of peasant agency in early medieval times: a theoretical and archaeological approach , by Carlos Tejerizo García	181
1. Introduction: the “agency outbreak” in early medieval archaeology	181
2. An archaeology of (early medieval peasant) agency?	184
3. Peasant-based societies in central and northwestern Iberia: some case studies	190
3.1. The origins of European peasantries: a “golden age”?	190
3.2. The funerary contexts of early medieval villages as arenas of struggle for peasant agency: the case of La Coba (San Juan del Olmo, Ávila)	196
4. Towards an archaeology of early medieval peasant agency in central and northern Iberia	200
Works cited	203

The tower of Agicampe (Loja, Granada). Social change in the rural Nasrid world , by Alberto García Porras	207
1. Introduction	207
2. Alquería towers	210
3. Alquería towers in Granada	211
4. The Tower of Agicampe (Loja, Granada)	213
5. The territory	215
6. The fields	218
7. The tower	220
8. Discussion and conclusion	225
Acknowledgements	229
Works cited	230

Peasant agency and peopling processes in Early Medieval Catalonia: Some thoughts and examples of rural landscape (5th-9th centuries) , by Karen Álvaro Rueda, Esther Travé Allepuz	233
1. Introduction	233
2. The archaeological background: state-of-the-art and methodological concerns	234
3. Peasantry in the Late Antiquity	237
3.1. The end of Roman villae	237
3.2. New forms of settlement	241
4. Permanence and change in early medieval rural settlements	244
4.1. The increase in production: evidence and examples	245
4.2. Necropolises and new settlements: towards new ways of life and death	247
4.3. The transformation of the ceramic record: early medieval greyware production	249
5. New forms of peasant agency: Hillforts and sites on the plains	250
6. Reinterpreting peasant agency at reference sites	254
7. The 8 th century: a crossroads	256
8. Concluding remarks	258
Works cited	260

The reoccupation of the late Roman villae of the Iberian Peninsula and the record of the subaltern debris. The case of Fuente Álamo (Puente Genil, Córdoba) , by Jesús Bermejo Tirado	265
1. Introduction	265
2. The end of the Roman villae: a historical overview	267
3. Peasant agency: A Roman archaeologist's perspective	269
4. Subaltern debris in the archaeological record of the Western villae	272
5. The late antique occupation of the Roman villa of Fuente Álamo (Puente Genil, Spain)	273
6. Everyday practices during the late antique occupation of Fuente Álamo	275
7. Discussion: The late antique occupation of Fuente Álamo and the art of not being governed	277
8. "Now this is not the end, it is not even the beginning of the end..."	279
Works cited	285